

Meijer Recognized as a Best Place to Work for Disability Inclusion

Meijer has been recognized by the US Business Leadership Network® (USBLN®) and American Association of People with Disabilities (AAPD) as one of the Disability Equality Index (DEI®) Best Places to Work for Disability Inclusion, receiving a high score of 90 percent. This is the first award of its kind for Meijer.

“This is a significant achievement for our company,” Meijer President & CEO Rick Keyes said. “We have worked hard to diversify our workforce and create a culture where everyone is part of one team. We believe this approach helps all of us better serve our customers and contributes to dynamic growth of Meijer.”

The Meijer Diversity & Inclusion team was on hand recently to receive the award during the USBLN annual conference in Orlando, Fla.

For more information on the award, please click here.

<http://meijercommunity.com/2017-08-29-Meijer-Recognized-as-a-Best-Place-to-Work-for-Disability-Inclusion>