

For the first time, Meijer will open stores in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. The Grand Rapids, Mich.-based retailer is confirming May 18 as the opening date for its new supercenters in Escanaba and Sault Ste. Marie.

To ensure UP shoppers receive the freshest grocery options and a one-stop shopping experience, the stores have begun training its team members. Meijer also recently released a video highlighting the historic crossing of the first delivery trucks to cross the Mackinac Bridge.

The Escanaba and Sault Ste. Marie supercenters are two of seven new stores Meijer is opening in Michigan, Indiana and Wisconsin this year.
